The SEASONAL SYNC and REEFER SYNC is a product for the allocation of space to customers requiring a steady allocation of ocean transport, with week-by-week fluctuations in their shipping needs, and at a fixed rate. 1. Your Contractual Relationship with the Carrier

1.1 These Terms set out the agreement between you and the Carrier in respect of the agreement reached for the SEASONAL SYNC and REEFER SYNC product. These Terms are incorporated into and supplemented by the Contract Output. These Terms and the Contract Output are intended to govern your ongoing relationship with the Carrier with respect to the size of and rate for your weekly allocation of space.

1.2 There are no binding obligations in relation to these Terms, or the Contract Output, until the Contract Output is agreed between you and the Carrier.

1.3 Rates appearing in the Contract Output may be subject to any surcharge(s) resulting from congestion, emergency risks, government mandates, capacity or equipment issues or any other cause whatsoever which causes increased expenditure to the Carrier or the Carrier's Affiliate in carrying the cargo.

1.4 Along with the rates agreed under the Contract Output, you will be liable to pay amounts based on the Tariff prevailing at the time of making any booking, where such amounts are applicable to any booking made in connection with these Terms and the Contract Output. Amounts payable pursuant to the Tariff are payable upon receipt of an invoice from the Carrier or any Carrier's Affiliate. By entering into these Terms, you agree that you are aware of the Tariff specific to the trades agreed by the Contract Output.

1.5 In order for any booking made under the Contract Output and these Terms to qualify for the rates and terms set out in the Contract Output, you must appear as the named shipper or the named consignee on the applicable Transport Document and you must reference the service contact number provided in the Contract Output on each Transport Document and set of shipping instructions for any such booking.

1.6 The Transport Documents shall be issued by the Carrier or the applicable Carrier's Affiliate for the carriage of the cargo under these Terms, and you shall be bound by the terms of any such Transport Document. In particular, the Terms and Conditions for Carriage will apply to all individual shipments that are arranged pursuant to these Terms and to the Contract Output.

1.7 Any capitalised words or phrases in these Terms are intended to refer to the definitions adopted by these Terms, the Contract Output or the Terms and Conditions for Carriage.

1.8 These Terms and the other provisions incorporated by these Terms shall prevail over any terms and conditions that are included in any booking sent by you, or in any other communication sent by you in the formation of the Contract Output, these Terms or any booking made pursuant to the Contract Output and these Terms.

1.9 In the absence of any express prior acceptance, the act of making a booking under the Contract Output and these Terms shall be deemed to be your irrevocable acceptance of these Terms and the terms in the Contract Output.

1.10 By agreeing the Contract Output and these Terms, you warrant that you have all due authority to enter into the Contract Output and these Terms and to bind any party names as an affiliate in the Contract Output to these Terms and any terms in the Contract Output. Any such affiliates shall be jointly and severally liable for your obligations under these Terms, the Contract Output, or any booking entered into pursuant to these Terms or the Contract Output.

2 . The Duration and Scope

Duration

2.1 Your agreement with the Carrier remains effective during the Term, unless terminated earlier in accordance with these Terms.

Scope

2.2 These Terms apply solely to ocean transport (container yard to container yard/CY - CY). Nothing contained in these Terms gives rise to any rights as against the Carrier in respect of any other passage of carriage.

2.3 You recognise that these Terms do not apply to any bookings for dangerous or hazardous goods, unless such shipments have been specifically and expressly accepted by the Carrier for carriage. You recognise that the shipment of hazardous goods without the prior notice and approval of the Carrier is extremely serious and potentially may cause you to be liable to the Carrier in damages for any losses arising therefrom, which may be significant.

3. Volume Forecast, Space Allocation, Bookings and Cost

Space Allocation and Cost

3.1 You and the Carrier have agreed the Total Nomination. The Total Nomination is divided by the total weeks in the Term to give the Weekly Volume Nomination.

3.2 You shall exercise reasonable endeavours to ensure that the Tendered Volume taken across the Terms is equal to the Total Nomination. For the purposes of this clause, you agree that if you nominate reduced Forecasted Volumes with the Carrier so as to load your cargoes on competing carriers' services, that will not equate to reasonable endeavours.

3.3 You may, from week to week, nominate a Forecasted Volume. The Forecasted Volume must not exceed the Weekly Volume Nomination multiplied by the Fluctuation. The Forecasted Volume is the volume that you wish for the Carrier to make available to you from week to week.

3.4 For Reefer Containers, provided that the Contract Output provides that you have purchased Allocation Buffer, the Forecasted Volume must not exceed the Weekly Volume Nomination plus the Fluctuation plus the Allocation Buffer (the "Reefer Maximum").

3.5 A Forecasted Volume in respect of any allocation week must be received by the Carrier (via your sales representative or specified support colleagues) by not later than two weeks for containers other than Reefer Containers or not later than one week for Reefer Containers before the estimated time of departure (ETD) of the first ocean going vessel for carriage of the first Reefer Container(s) or container(s) from the port of loading to which the Forecasted Volume relates. If the Forecasted Volume is not received by the Carrier by that time, the Forecasted Volume for any such allocation week shall be deemed to be the Weekly Volume Nomination.

3.6 The Carrier bases its global capacity on its agreements with its various customers, including your agreement with the Carrier under these Terms and the Contract Output. On the basis of that global capacity, the Carrier anticipates without guarantee that it is likely to be able to provide space on its vessels or on the vessels of any Carrier's Affiliate, in an amount equal to the Weekly Volume Nomination and any Forecasted Volume. However, these Terms and the Contract Output are not a binding commitment by the Carrier to provide space in an amount equal to the Weekly Volume Nomination or any Forecasted Volume.

3.7 The Carrier may provide capacity through equipment and vessels that the Carrier owns, operates, charters, leases or through vessel sharing arrangements with other carriers.

3.8 Without limitation to any surcharges, the Tariff, any amounts due in respect of an Emissions Regulation as defined below, or any other amounts due under these Terms or the Terms for Carriage or any other applicable terms governing any booking, you shall pay to the Carrier the rate agreed in the Contract Output per FFE multiplied by the Tendered Volume.

3.9 The Carrier reserves the right to increase the rates payable by you under these Terms and the Contract Output in an amount equal to any reduction of any surcharge routinely applied to bookings under these Terms and the Contract Output, provided always that once the rate is increased to account for some or all of such surcharge reduction, such part of the surcharge that is incorporated into the rate will no longer be applied to any bookings thereafter.

Geographical Flexibility

3.10 Each Total Nomination, Weekly Volume Nomination and Forecasted Volume is made for a specific Corridor. The Carrier, in its sole discretion, will assign that Corridor to a specific String. You may agree with the Carrier a number of different Total Nominations for different Corridors and this agreement will be recorded in the Contract Output.

3.11 In order to provide you with greater flexibility, where under these Terms you and the Carrier have agreed a Weekly Volume Nomination or a Forecasted Volume in respect of two or more Corridors that are assigned to the same String, you will be entitled to move the space allocated under each Weekly Volume Nomination or Forecasted Volume within that same String. We refer to Example A below.

Example A

Weekly Volume Nomination for Corridors are as per below:

Weekly Volume Nomination 1 – Corridor: 50FFE for CNSHA (Shanghai) - BEANR (Antwerp)

Weekly Volume Nomination 2 – Corridor: 50FFE CNSHA (Shanghai) - NLRM (Rotterdam)

Both of these Corridors may be allocated to the same Geographical Service String. Here, for example, both routesCorridors may be allocated to the AE10 String.

The customer may therefore benefit from space of up to 100 FFE / week on the AE10 Geographical Service String, rather than 50 FFE in each Corridor, provided the total Weekly Volume Nomination remains the same.

3.12 You acknowledge and recognise that the Carrier shall be entitled at all times throughout the Term to determine in their sole discretion how the String(s) are formed and assign any Total Nomination, Weekly Volume Nomination, Forecasted Volume in respect of a Corridor to a particular String.

Equivalencies

3.13 The Total Nomination, the Weekly Volume Nomination, the Forecasted Volume shall be based on the space allocated in terms of the number of FFEs which shall follow equivalencies as set out in the below table:

	20'	40' HC/NOR
FFE Equivalent	0.5 FFE	1 FFE

In this table, HC refers to "High Cube Containers" and NOR refers to a non-operating refrigerated container.

Cut-off Times for Booking and Delivering Cargo

3.14 A booking within your Weekly Volume Nomination or Forecasted Volume can be made at any time, provided that the booking is made and the cargo is delivered into the custody of the Carrier before the relevant cut off time for the load port as determined by that load port.

3.15 The Carrier's web-booking platform provides information as to the cut-off times applicable to the load port for each Corridor. That information is indicative only and without guarantee, and the Carrier shall not be liable if a booking is made late on the basis of such information. The Carrier shall not be liable for any issues in making a booking through third-party booking platforms. The Carrier shall not be liable for any issues in making a booking through the Carrier's web-booking platform in the event of malware attack or any outage whatsoever of the Carrier's web-booking platform.

3.16 Each booking will be allocated to a specific week in the Carrier's system. You recognise that the relevant week for the purposes of this allocation is the week on which the relevant vessel commences the relevant String. Accordingly, the week during which the cargo is loaded onto the relevant vessel in respect of any booking is not necessarily the week to which that booking will be allocated for the purposes of establishing the Tendered Volume.

Weekly Allocations – Booking Explanation

It may assist you to consider the distinction between the "departure week" and the "allocation week" for each booking.

Using the examples below, a cargo departing Colombo in Week 23 will be allocated to the week two weeks prior, being Week 21. Therefore, a booking assigned to the AE1 String and made for loading at Colombo in Week 23, will be a part of the Week 21 Tendered Volume.

Departure Week vs. Allocation Week

4. Requirement for Additional Volume

4.1 If you wish to load volume in excess of the maximum Fluctuation multiplied by the Weekly Volume Nomination or for Reefer Containers, volume in excess of the Reefer Maximum, from time to time then any such additional volume shall fall outside of the scope of these Terms.

4.2 At any time during the Term you may request, by notice to the Carrier, an increase in the Weekly Volume Nomination for a particular week. Agreement to any such request is at the sole and exclusive discretion of the Carrier and the Carrier has no obligation to accommodate any such request. In particular, an increased rate may be payable on any increase in your Weekly Volume Nomination and the Carrier specifically reserves the right to charge a fixed peak season surcharge on any additional volume.

5. Review and Curtailment

5.1 The Carrier may, in the Carrier's sole discretion and not earlier than four weeks into the Term, perform a review of the Tendered Volume as compared to the Forecasted Volume. Such review will take into account the Tendered Volume across the four consecutive week period preceding the review.

5.2 Following any such review, if the Tendered Volume is 85% or less than the Forecasted Volume for that four consecutive week period, the Carrier may, in the Carrier's sole discretion, reduce the Weekly Volume Nomination across the remainder of the Term by a pro-rated amount equal to the percentage of the shortfall between the Tendered Volume and the Forecasted Volume.

5.3 For the purpose of this Clause 5 only, if you have placed a valid booking for space within the Weekly Volume Nomination or the Forecasted Volume (as applicable), which the Carrier has been unable to meet, any such requested space shall be deemed to have been a part of the Tendered Volume and the Tendered Volume shall be increased accordingly.

Example 2

	Week 1	Week 2	Week 3	Week 4	Four Week Total
Forecasted Volume	100 FFE	80 FFE	130 FFE	90 FFE	400 FFE
Tendered Volume	100 FFE	30 FFE	100 FFE	50 FFE	280 FFE

In this example, only 280 FFE were tendered, out of a four week Forecasted Volume of 400 FFE. That is a total of 70% of the total space allocation across the four weeks.

In this example, the Carrier may reduce the Weekly Volume Nomination for future months to 70% of the original Weekly Volume Nomination for the remainder of the Term. This would, in turn, limit any future Forecasted Volume in accordance with these Terms.

If the customer had tendered 340 FFEs or more across this period, the customer would have tendered 85% or more of the Forecasted Volume across the four-week period. In those circumstances, the Carrier would not be entitled to reduce the Weekly Volume Nomination.

5.4 In entering into these Terms you acknowledge that the review and curtailment of the Weekly Volume Nomination (if any) is a recurring process and that this review and curtailment may result in the Weekly Volume Nomination being reduced to zero, in circumstances where there is continued non-performance by you.

6. Remedies

Remedies for the Carrier

6.1 If the Tendered Volume is less than the Weekly Volume Nomination or the Forecasted Volume from week to week, then save for where there is a breach of your reasonable endeavours obligation at Clause 3, the Carrier’s sole and exclusive remedy for your failure to tender the entire Weekly Volume Nomination or the Forecasted Volume is the review and curtailment mechanism set out at Clause 5 of these Terms. The Carrier shall not have a claim in damages against you for any failure to tender the entire Weekly Volume Nomination or the Forecasted Volume.

6.2 Clause 6.1 above is without prejudice to any other rights or claims that may arise out of or in connection with these Terms, including without limitation any rights or claim that may arise in connection with or in relation to the carriage of any cargo booked and loaded pursuant to these Terms, including the Terms and Conditions for Carriage or the Contract Output.

Your Remedies

6.3 You acknowledge and accept that, by these Terms the Carrier does not guarantee that the Carrier shall make the space or equipment to meet the Weekly Volume Nomination or the Forecasted Volume available to you. In the event that the Carrier does not provide sufficient space to meet the Weekly Volume Nomination or the Forecasted Volume, or in the event that the Carrier does not provide any space whatsoever, you shall have no claim against the Carrier whatsoever, including in damages or in any other remedy.

6.4 Clause 6.3 above is without prejudice to any other rights or claims that may arise out of or in connection with these Terms, including any rights or claim that may arise in connection with or in relation to the carriage of any cargo loaded pursuant to these Terms, including the Terms and Conditions for Carriage or the Contract Output.

These waivers shall apply whether foreseeable or in the reasonable contemplation of the parties at the time of execution of your agreement with the Carrier set out in the Contract Output and these Terms or even if such claim or liability were to be based upon any breach by a Party of its obligations (whether fundamental or otherwise) under these Terms or any negligent act, fault or omission by a Party; provided however, nothing herein shall waive any specific payment obligations of either Party set forth in your agreement with the Carrier.
